The Radio Society of Great Britain will be hosting the sixth in a series of workshops being held throughout the UK on Saturday 27th October 2007. The event is suitable for all newcomers / anyone interested in the microwave bands and the workshop is specifically aimed at those who have no experience whatsoever.

The day will be structured around a series of introductory talks and practical demonstrations of microwave stations and operation. There will be a number of experienced microwave operators present during the day so that all your questions can be answered.

If you are interested in trying out the microwave bands but haven't done so yet or are just contemplating getting set up for the microwave bands this event will be a great opportunity to kick start your activities.

Each attendee will receive, among other information, a useful CD containing all the day's presentations and a wealth of useful software.

The UK Microwave Group (UKuG) is managing the event, anyone wishing to attend this workshop MUST contact the UKuG Secretary Ian Lamb G8KQW via e-mail to ianlamb@btconnect.com or via telephone on 07818 038136 to reserve a place in advance.

The workshop will be an introduction to amateur microwaves. Please note that it is NOT intended for those already experienced in this part of the spectrum.

Complimentary tea and coffee will be available throughout the day however no food will be available therefore attendees should bring packed lunches to eat on site.
